Definition

- A simple sentence, also called an independent clause, contains a subject and a verb, and it expresses a complete thought.
- A compound sentence contains at least two independent clauses joined by a coordinator. The coordinators are as follows: for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so.
- A complex sentence has an independent clause and one or more dependent clauses.
- A compound-complex sentence is made up of at least two independent clauses and one or more dependent clauses.

Simple	E.g.: All these books are mine.
Compound	E.g.: He was watching T.V, and she was cooking.
Complex	E.g.: He didn't want to talk to whoever he met in the London workshop.
Compound complex	E.g.: When I arrived home, my wife was still watching TV, but the children had gone to bed.
